

Adam Harris

Adam Harris is a passionate entrepreneurial individual with extensive business experience, know-how and expertise. A leader with the ability to manage and implement innovative business solutions, develop people and commercialize all aspects of a business. Extensive experience in idea generation and converting opportunities into success; driving profit and growth. Excellent communication and networking skills. Highly successful in implementing business process improvements, defining company direction, achieving goals, change and optimising business procedures.

Current

He has, as a Business Consultant delivered consistently significant results, providing many IT resellers, vendors and Trade Associations with advice, consultation and strategy to develop their offering - ensuring maximum ROI whilst having a clear objective on where to add value to their target market. managed service provider. A seasoned 'facilitator' Adam uses his extensive network and personable demeanour to increase clients opportunities from concept, design to delivery and execution.

What he does Identifies hidden opportunity

Why he is different

Displays huge passion, experience, and innovation within the information technology field. He always finds ways of adding value for individuals and businesses within this sector.

Professional Affiliations

- Member of the Institute of Directors (IoD)
- IOD Young Director of the year 2009
- Qualified Teacher and Lecturer
- Judge + contributor for CRN, Microscope, PCR, Comms businesses
- Council Member of the Nottingham City Business Club

Contact Details

Telephone:

Mobile: 07779 714387

Email: adam.harris@transmentum.co.uk